The Rector's Letter

Dear all,

Every year in the seasons of Advent and Christmas, we focus on the Birth of Jesus: the promise of a Messiah as foretold by the prophets and the incarnation of the Word of God, born in human flesh. Luke famously writes this about the incarnation: 'And she [Mary] gave birth to her firstborn son and wrapped him in bands of cloth, and laid him in a manger, because there was no place for them in the inn.' (Luke 2.7) A very vivid description of being clothed – both in human form and in actual bands of cloth. The idea that God stoops low to meet us in Jesus' birth; that God's Word takes human shape so that we can learn something deep about God by walking alongside Jesus and by following his word and example, is key to the mystery of the incarnation. God is clothed, so that our lives can be profoundly touched.

But there is another aspect to our 'bands of cloth' perhaps worth remembering this Advent and Christmas. The poet Rainer Maria Rilke reminds us of this in his poem God speaks (from the cycle The Book of Hours): here God is described as speaking to everyone at the point of their incarnation, telling them (and us all) to 'clothe God' in our being and life. Not only Jesus is to clothe God, but we all are called to give God shape in who we are and what we do. Maybe we could remember this basic calling to life and embodiment as we go through the seasons of Advent and Christmas (and celebrate Jesus' birth): that our own 'bands of cloth' (as humble as they may be) are key to the mystery of the incarnation as we are all called into the fabric of life by God – and that to wrap others lovingly in 'bands of cloth' is to take part in God's plan and purpose for all of creation.

Yours in Christ,

Christoph

ACM feedback Forms

At our ACM this autumn, we were invited to offer our feedback on our church life here at HT and on how we might further evolve as a church community as we are coming back to worship after lockdown. Many thanks to all those who have offered feedback, prayers and practical help (by indicating areas of church life they might want to be involved in). Clearly, this process of reconnecting and development will take time as we pray, listen to the Holy Spirit at work here and discuss what we hear – as God calls us anew every day of our lives. A very exciting and significant time for us at HT.

Vestry have started a process of reflecting on the collected feedback and there will be a Vision Day in February, helping us to bring different thoughts, feedback and existing strands of our church life together in discussion and prayer even further. In the meantime, please continue to offer feedback and prayerfully consider how you might be involved in new and creative ways.

Questions asked were:

What at HT is particularly helpful at the moment? What might we be missing? What might we be called to start anew? What about service times and formats? Any other comments?

A prayer initiative for the New Year

First of all, a brief introduction.....I am the Reverend Joan Lyon and retired from full-time ministry in September 2018, returning for the year 2019-2020 to work as part-time Transitional Priest in St John's Scottish Episcopal Church, Alloa. Weekends sometimes find me with family, friends or different churches but I feel drawn to worship amongst you at Holy Trinity. I have worked in a number of diverse situations – curacy in the East End of Glasgow, time in Ayr, Luxembourg, Suffolk and Aberdeen – and learned much about how different congregations work. In nearly all these places, I have introduced a way of praying known throughout the world as “Lectio Divina” and would now like to offer this to Holy Trinity. This seems to chime with Reverend Christoph's deep understanding of how God might be present in our congregation.

So here is a brief explanation..... To pray is to draw closer to the heart of God. In our Sunday service, we offer prayers each week for the church, the world, for the needs of others and ourselves. But prayer is as much about listening quietly to hear what God might be saying to each one of us.

Lectio Divina which means “holy reading” is an ancient spiritual practice from the Christian monastic tradition that allows us to experience the presence of God through reading a passage from Scripture and listening, periods of silence, prayer and contemplation. It is not a Bible study nor a discussion group although people can certainly share their experience if they would like to. It is a way of praying that energises us and leaves us feeling more peaceful within ourselves and therefore more ready to engage with the reality of the life we live on a day-to-day basis.

It helps us to take time to discover the rich truths of the Word of God.

With the blessing of Christoph, our Rector, the hope is to set up a new group called "Wellsprings". This will meet fortnightly in Joan's house, 17 Randolph Court, Stirling FK8 2AL on Tuesday mornings from 10am – 11am followed by simple refreshments. The first meeting is planned for Tuesday 11 January and this will allow for 4 meetings before the start of Lent. If you would like to find out more, please speak to Joan or just sign up on the sheet at the back of the church. Numbers will be limited to a maximum of 9.

Lewis church to feature on BBC ALBA's Alleluia!

BBC ALBA, the dedicated Scottish Gaelic television channel, was a recent visitor to St Moluag's on the Isle of Lewis.

The church at Eoropie, the most northerly village in the Western Isles, was the location for filming of spiritual series Alleluia!

While picturesque, St Moluag's does provide challenges for film crews, because as well as being so remote there is no electricity supply at the building. However, the logistics were overcome with the help of the Rector, the Rev Canon Peter Moger, and congregation member Jenny Stewart. Thanks in part to their efforts, St Moluag's will feature prominently in most episodes of the forthcoming series of Alleluia! which runs from 21 November to 2 January 2022. <http://www.scotland.anglican.org/>

Thank You

You will recall that Bishop John's final contribution to these pages was in the November edition.

Here are a few thank yous to Bishop John:

"I would just like to say thank you to John for doing the prayer diary. I look forward to reading it in the magazine every month and praying for all the names on a different day of the week. It is so interesting."

Best wishes to John. Helen Kemp

"My thanks and appreciation to Bishop John for the way he has led the HT community in prayer and reflection these past 6 years by contributing the Prayer Diary and Saints & Heroes Page to our church magazine. The prayer intentions and reflections were always timely, deep and stirring, keeping prayer at the heart of all we do and achieve to be at HT. Many, many thanks." C Wutscher

Whoever takes over the Prayer Diary and the Saints and Heroes page from John Crook will have a hard act to follow. I have just realised how demoralising that might sound for anyone who may be thinking of doing so. Thank you John for the meticulous work over the past six years. All the thoughtful detail in each Prayer Diary reminded us of how much good work continues around us often not fully recognised. The Saints and Heroes page always had snippets of information that encouraged me to discover more specially about the more obscure heroes. Often offbeat, but always so interesting. Thinking of you and looking forward to hearing that the surgery is a success. C Brims

And the wonderful news is that Rev Graham Willey has very kindly offered to take over the Prayer Diary and Saints and Heroes pages. (We are very grateful to him, not least because his very first submission is for this double edition and therefore twice the workload!)

Saints and Heroes of the Faith to inspire our prayers in December

St. Frances Xavier, born in 1506 he was an original member of the Society of Jesus with St. Ignatius – he took vows of poverty and chastity and committed himself to evangelism. He was one of the greatest of all Christian missionaries preaching in Goa, South East Asia, Japan where he landed in 1549. He learned Japanese and founded a Church that endured a long persecution. He died while on his way from Goa to China in 1552.

St. John Damascene, born in Damascus about 675. After holding public office for a time, he withdrew to the Monastery of Sabas near Jerusalem and took Monastic Vows and later became a priest. He wrote 'The Fount of Wisdom', in which he presented a comprehensive teaching on Christian Doctrine which had great influence on later theology. He died about 750.

St. Ambrose. Born about 339, at Trier in Gaul, he studied and became a successful advocate. In 370 he became Governor of Districts in Milan. On the death of its Arian bishop Auxentius, Ambrose appealed for peace at the assembly convoked to elect a successor. A voice from the crown shouted 'Ambrose for bishop'. Whilst still a Catechumen he was elected Bishop of Milan by the laity. He hesitated to accept but was baptised and ordained. He studied theology and became a teacher and defender of the faith. He received St. Augustine into the Church. He lived a very full and energetic life; his feast is given as 7th of Dec, whereas the Book of Common Prayer has it as the 4th April.

St. Lucy, died at Syracuse in the persecution of Diocletian, 304. Her following was both early and widespread. She came from a wealthy family, refused marriage, and supported the poor from her own means. Churches were dedicated to her in Rome, Naples, and Venice and later in England where she has been known since the time of Aldhelm, 709, Abbott of Malmesbury. She is remembered too in Sweden. She suffered greatly before her Martyrdom and she died by the sword.

Saints and Heroes of the Faith to inspire our prayers in January

St. Hilary of Poitiers, Bishop of Poitiers, born in 315 of pagan parents, he became an orator, married and had a daughter, Afra. In 350 he became a Christian through a long period of study. In 353 he was chosen bishop; for the rest of his life he was the outspoken champion of orthodoxy against the Arians. He was praised by Augustine and Jerome as an illustrious teacher of the churches. There are three churches dedicated to him in England.

St. Antony of Egypt, Abbot, born in Egypt, about 260AD. When his parents died he gave his money to the poor and went into the desert, where he lived a life of penance. Many came to follow him and he is known as the father of monks. He supported those who suffered for the faith under the persecutions of Diocletian and helped St. Athanasius in his fight against the Arians. He died in 356.

St. Agnes, Virgin and Martyr of Rome, born about 290. About 345, a basilica was built over her tomb. Her feast was kept in many churches both East and West. From early times she was considered one of the most famous of early Roman martyrs. Writers who praised her include Ambrose, Damasus, (both of whom claimed reliance on authentic verbal tradition), Jerome and Prudentius. On her feast at Rome, lambs are blessed which produce the wool from which the 'pallia' for archbishops are woven by the nuns of St. Agnes Convent. She died in her mid-teens in 305.

St. John Chrysostom, born in 347AD, he became Bishop of Constantinople and Doctor of the Church. He was educated for the law at Antioch, where he also studied theology under Diodore of Tarsus, the leader of the Antiochene School. Early in life, he felt a call to the monastic life, becoming a hermit in the years 373-38. His early work 'On the Priesthood', is a finely conceived description of the responsibilities of the Christian minister.

Those unwanted gifts

What will you do with the Christmas gifts you don't want? Depends on your sex. It seems that women are 60% more likely than men to return or give away Christmas presents they don't want.

What are considered unwanted presents? One list includes potato peelers, a carpet cleaner, a sleeve ironing board, a mop and bucket, and out-of-date Bailey Irish Cream liqueur.

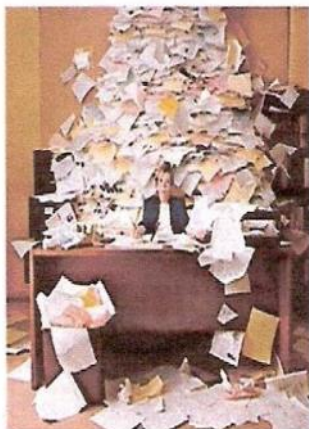

Some of us will sell our unwanted gifts on Ebay, while others of us will give them away, or to the nearest charity shop. The survey was done by Which? www.parishpump.org

Please send in your most unwanted presents and we'll publish them in the February edition. Who knows-your unwanted may be my wished for gift!

The views expressed in this magazine are not necessarily those of the editorial team. However Happy Christmas is definitely endorsed by the editorial team!
